LYNCHBURG TOBACCO MARKET.

Lynchburg, Va., May 19, 1906,
Sales of loose tobacce on the Lynchburg market for the two weeks ending May 18, 1905, reported by John L. Oglesby, of Lynch's Warehouse, were as follows:
Sold week ending May 11th, 107,100 pounds; decrease for the week ending May 18th, 53,700 pounds; decrease for the week ending May 18th, 185, 400 pounds; sold from September 1st, 1906, 14,34,700 pounds; dorrease for 1996, 231,800 pounds.

The sales of tobacco the past week week quite light, which indicate that the crop is about all sold. Frices on all grades continue about as for the seven months past. The cold weather of last week did much less damags than was feared, and did not damage the to bacco plants there had for planting, and have a season for planting a considerable portion of the crop will be planted during the coming week.

The quotations are as follows:

DANVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

(Reported by Dibrell Bros.)

(Reported by Dibreil Bros.)

Danville, Va., May 19, 1906.

Sales continue small, which is owing in measure to the dry weather which has prevailed for the past thirty days, but mor especially to the small amount of tobacco still in the hands of the farmers. It may be safel said that the crop in the old belt is neare sold than ever before at this eason of an year, because the farmers are each year mer keting their tobaccos earlier, and falling in the customs of the bright belt of the Carolinus which sells the orep card and falling in the customs of the bright belt of the Carolinus which sells the orep card and falling in the customs of the bright belt of the Carolinus and falling in the customs of the bright belt of the Carolinus which sells the orep card and falling in the conditions under which the new crop is starting of in the bright belt of North Carolinus are very poor. The absence of rain to the past forty days, and the cool weather has caused a very poor stand, and the tobaccomplanted are not staying as they should. The

ACTION HAD NO EFFECT

A Drooping Tendency in Bond Market, and Changes Insignificent.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 19.—There was no market worthy of the name to-day and the sluggish drift of stocks was of no consequence. Prices showed a drooping tendency from the initiation of the market, but hardened to some extent before the close and left prices finally with insignificant changes from the last quotations of yesterday. The $15,000,000 loan expansion in the bank statement is clearly due to other causes than stock market borrowing and the Pennsylvania note issue is given credit for the increase. The main in the part of the lanks shows only a hominal change on the week.

The passage by the Senate of the rall-way rate regulation bill was without apparent influence on the market. An explanation offered for the torpid state of the bond market and the drooping tendency of prices there is the elimination of a large absorptive power on the part of the life insurance companies, which played an important part formerly. It of the life insurance companies, which played an important part formerly. It is supposed that some liquidation on the part of the fire insurance companies on account of San Francisco losses is an influence in the bond market also. These conditions are both taken to help in causing the Pennsylvania to resort to a note issue at this time, and has its influence on the bond market. Total sales of bonds par value, $1,99,000. Total sales of stocks were 151,300 shares.

vented planting to any extent. There is some reported scarcity of plants, and damage to plants by the heavy frost of last week. Reports from the brisht belt indicate a decrease of 10 per cent, to 16 per cent, in acrease, as compared with last year, and as the amount of tobacco raised last year shows a decrease over the amount the previous year, a still smeller crop may be looked for in 1908. The yield will depend largely upon the weather conditions during the growing period, but we are very much of the opinion that only a small crop of tobacco will be raised in the bright chace sections. There is considerable structured in hogshead tobaccos. The stocks are sufficiently small, and the people holdes, desirable stocks have advanced their prices, and seem to heve no difficulty in obtaining the prices they hold their goods at. DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The week in the dry goods market closed with a very firm condition in all lines of staple and fancy cottons. Seasonable weather conditions, resulting in diminution of retail stocks reacted very favorably upon the wholesale inde. Prices had an upward tendency and spring lines of ginghams and fancy prints as well as low colored cottons sold at advanced prices for apring.

Cotton Letter

By MILLER & COMPANY.

NEW YORK, May 19.—The week closes with prices for the new crop months back to the same level as last Saturday, after an upward turn of 20 points. More resistance to the reaction was shown by near positions, May closing 10 points higher than last week, and July 4 better. The squeeze in May shows no sign of abatement, if measured by the premium, which has increased from 20 to 25 points over July, and from 70 to 33 over October. There have been rumors galore that the May deal has been wound up. Some claim that a settlement has been arrived at between the shorts and longs, but this has been fatly denied. Others say that the leading bull has been quietly selling his May at 20 to 25 points higher than July, and trans-selling his long interest into the latter, in which it is believed or large short account exists. At lest, the situation in the old crop is that of a one-man market, but with sports so strongly hen throughout the South the task of holding up prices, or even pussing them higher, is not a difficult one. The new crop months, however, are more liable to legitimate influences, and it is not surprising, therefore, when weather is good and prospects favorable that there should be sufficient selling to Induce softness in prices. We look forward to a scalping market during the coming wee... There are two sore spots in the crop situation, which, if rubbed too much, will tend to cause uneasiness among shorts. These are the continued dry weather in North Carolina, and portions of South Carolina, and the continued on the prices. NEW YORK, May 19.-The week closes and the continuance of rains in portions of North Texas and the Territories.

Liverpool is due to come unchanged on
